LIFE ON THE LINE:
STATEWIDE CIT TRAINING FOR 9-1-1 DISPATCHERS

For the State of Oregon
HOW DOES 9-1-1 IMPACT THE WORK YOU DO?
CIT CORE ELEMENTS

3. Policies and Procedures

Policies and procedures are a necessary component of CIT. They provide a set of guidelines that direct the actions of both law enforcement and mental health officials. Due to the large number of stakeholders in CIT, it is important that these guidelines be designed by all those affected. Within the law enforcement community, policies exist in order to provide guidelines regarding how to properly transport consumers and how to develop an infrastructure through a system of partnerships and inter-agency agreements. These law enforcement policies address the actions of both emergency dispatchers and CIT patrol officers. The emergency dispatchers identify the nearest available CIT Officer to respond to the crisis. The CIT Officer then responds to the crisis event and leads the intervention. CIT Officers should be allowed to integrate their wide range of law enforcement training when handling CIT calls. Within the mental health community, policies exist in order to provide guidelines regarding how to handle referrals from CIT Officers. The mental health community also plays a role in training and feedback for the CIT program. The role of the advocacy community in policies and procedures are often more informal but involve the critical element of networking and feedback for the overall program.

A. CIT Training

1) Inter-Agency Agreements

2) Size and Scope

The number of trained CIT officers available to any shift should be adequate to meet the demand load of the local consumer community. Experience has shown that a successful CIT program will have trained 20-25% of the agency’s patrol division. There are differences that exist between large urban communities and small rural communities. Smaller agencies may need to train a higher percentage of officers. Ultimately, the goal is to have an adequate number of patrol officers trained in order to ensure that CIT-trained officers are available at all times.

All dispatchers should be trained to appropriately elicit sufficient information to identify a mental health related crisis.

B. Law Enforcement Policies and Procedures

1) Dispatch Policies and Procedures

The nearest CIT Officer is identified and dispatched to the crisis event.

2) Patrol Policies and Procedures

Policies that maximize the officer’s discretion are critical. In addition, a policy should address the issue of the lead CIT Officer, who guides the resolution of the crisis event.

HOW CAN WE SCALE THIS TRAINING WHEN...

Every agency is different?
Things we needed to consider:

- Our audience
- Staffing/Budget
- Non-existent policies and programs
- Career timing for training
- Host locations – planning dates to build Train-the-Trainer
- Local Mental Health Professionals and Peers as Presenters
OUTCOMES
Role players were familiar with dispatch and mental health related situations.

Used a Negotiator/Coach format so nobody was on their own.

Created small groups in separate rooms to allow time for everyone to participate.
So, what did you learn?
A lot, the entire experience has been great. Learning more about what people are coming.

There was not one class over the two days that I didn’t feel wasn’t valuable, or needed. I found a way to apply everything I learned to my work, my agency.

How will you apply what you have learned today?
Understanding them better & remember they’re people still,
not just a number.

This class very valuable and all dispatchers should have to go through it.

So, what did you learn?
Training and de-escalation is very important. It can turn out very different with someone who is not trained in C.O.P.
A dispatcher is the first advocate for a person with mental health crisis.
